LA FOLLETTE A DESPERATE MAN

Will Do Everything to Hold His Delegates Together and Organize Convention.

MADISON MUCH EXCITED TODAY

Nothing But Politics Can Be Heard on the Streets-- Legal Questions Are Now Involved in Dispute.

(By Staff Correspondent.) Madison, Wis., May 17.—This is a day of spirited contests between rival delegations before the republican state central committee. There was bustle and hurry in all quarters today. At the university gymnasium the finishing touches were given to the seating arrangements and decorations. At the hotels the candidates for nomination and their managers will be busy meeting and being attractive and pleasant to callers, particularly delegates. At the executive office and in all the departments of the capitol people were numerous and busy. But the center of interest will be the long consultation room of the department of the state board of control on the east side of the corridor in the north wing of the capitol. Here contesting and contested delegations came armed with stacks of affidavits showing that they were the rightful delegates and that the other fellows come as pretenders or vice versa. On the determination of these contests by the state central committee, if the procedure of former republican state conventions is followed, depends the question as to which of the bitterly opposed factions of the Wisconsin republican household shall absolutely control the convention tomorrow and shall name the ticket of state officers, formulate the platform, name the delegates to the national convention and select the republican candidates for presidential electors from Wisconsin.

Many Contests Developed. At least eight counties send contestants. These are Ashland, Brown, Eau Claire, Grant, Dodge, Milwaukee, St. Croix and Oconto. The contests from Brown, Grant and St. Croix counties come as the result of bolts by the anti-administration faction from the respective local conventions. Some of the contests were not developed through bolts in conventions, and in the matter of bolting the two factions are on substantially even terms. From Dodge and Eau Claire counties each there come two assembly district contests. From Milwaukee county there come a score more or less contests, coming directly from the caucuses and not from conventions, as in Milwaukee the delegates to the state convention are elected in the caucuses rather than in county or assembly district conventions.

The state central committee met at 9 o'clock and at that time the contestants were expected to be ready with their proofs. As the convenience of the county determines, each set of contesting delegates, with representative for each side, was admitted by the committee and the facts of the contest told before the committee. After the committee had heard whatever representations the contestants had to make the delegates retired and the committee in executive session decided what adjustment will be made.

May Contest Procedure. This has been the procedure heretofore and it will be attempted by the administration faction. The opposition, however, does not look with favor upon this plan and it is expected that an attempt will be made to seat in the preliminary organization all those delegates who come with the regular credentials signed by the customary local officers of the party.

Baensch and Cook Arrive. Judge Baensch of Manitowoc and S. A. Cook of Neenah, the candidates of the opposition to Governor La Follette, arrived at the Park hotel and opened their headquarters last night. Mr. Cook was for a time in the hotel lobby shaking hands with prominent acquaintances. Judge Baensch, in company with Congressman Babcock, went early in the evening to the Baensch headquarters in the Vrooman block and remained there throughout the evening. There are a number of prominent politicians from Milwaukee on hand, among them being Charles F. Pfister, E. L. Phillips, Theodore Zillmer, General F. C. Winkler, S. B. Told, Charles Coon, T. H. Gill, and T. W. Spence. Among others on the scene are Senators J. J. McGillivray, D. E. Rorland and Edward E. Burns. Assembliesmen Lenroot and Ira B. Bradford, C. O. Marsh, chief clerk of the assembly; Theodore W. Goldin, chief clerk of the senate; W. D. Conner of Marshfield, M. G. Jeffris and T. S. Nolan of Janesville; A. W. Sanderson of Ashland, F. P. Lyman, officer of the North-Western railroad; Congressman H. C. Adams, and Congressman J. W. Babcock. The incoming trains were headed today. Nearly all of the delegates will arrive before to-night, as the district caucuses are scheduled for tomorrow morning and the convention convenes promptly to-morrow noon.

The Program. According to the call for the convention as issued by the state central committee, the convention is held "for the purpose of electing four delegates and four alternates to the re-

Governor—S. A. Cook, Neenah, Lieutenant governor—H. August Luedtke, Milwaukee.

Secretary of state—John W. Groves, Madison.

State treasurer—Mr. Clausen, who was a candidate two years ago, or also a Milwaukee man to take the place of Mr. Kempf.

Attorney general—D. J. Clason, Oconto.

Railroad commissioner—J. E. Broadwell, Sparta.

There is to be no state superintendent of public instruction nominated by this convention, but if the anti-administration faction controls there will be a resolution passed endorsing L. D. Harvey of Dunn county for the office.

WOMAN SUICIDES WITH HER CHILD

Columbus, Ohio, the Scene of Startling Suicide This Morn. ing Early.

(Special by Scripps-McRae.)

Columbus, O., May 17.—A young woman with a child about four years old in her arms, leaped from the bridge into the Scioto river this morning. Both were drowned. The bodies were recovered but were not identified.

CERVERA FAILING VERY FAST TODAY

Spanish Commander at Santiago

Suffering with a Severe Stomach Trouble.

(Special by Scripps-McRae.)

Madrid, May 17.—A private telegram from Andalusia states that Admiral Cervera, the Spanish commander at Santiago, is suffering an internal complaint and physicians express little hope of recovery.

STATE NOTES

Preparations are under way among the literary societies at the state university for their annual senior banquets.

Jay Melville, the 12 year old son of Albert Melville of Chippewa Falls, accidentally severed the arteries of his left thigh while whittling a stick, but was saved by prompt attention.

Otto Luehrs, John Mutter, and Joseph Gebhardt, aged 18, 16, and 14 years, respectively, left their homes in Hayton on Sunday to beat their way to St. Louis. They are without funds.

William O. Eddy of the town of Wheatland was granted a divorce in the circuit court at Racine on Monday from his wife, Emma Eddy, who disappeared from her home two years ago.

James Crane and C. L. Graham, trustees of the Racine county asylum, requested to resign at the last meeting of the board of supervisors, will refuse to comply with the board's request.

Two smooth young men, attired as mechanics, pretending to be members of the Order of Railway Yardmen of America, have swindled Racine people out of $200 by selling tickets for an alleged ball for the benefit of an injured railroad man.

YOUNG BRIDE KILLS HUSBAND

THOUGHT WEAPON WAS EMPTY

Woman Meant to Have Some Fun by Frightening Her Groom, Revolver Having Failed to Explode Cartridges When Struck by Hammer.

(Special by Scripps-McRae.)

Springfield, Ill., May 17.—After dressing herself in her wedding gown to attend a country dance, Mrs. John Phillips, an 18 year old bride, living near Millburn, picked up a revolver and, walking toward the kitchen of Frank Oden's home, where her husband was talking to friends, she said:

"I'm going to have some fun scaring John." She snatched the revolver three times to see if it loaded. "Look out, John, I'm going to shoot you," the bride cried, as she pointed the pistol at her young husband.

She fired just as Phillips turned. The bullet entered his right temple and he fell dead at his wife's feet.

For a moment the girl stood dumb, unable to comprehend the tragedy.

Clings to Corpse.

"Oh, my poor John, I've killed you," she shrieked, when the full meaning overtook her. She threw herself upon the stricken figure on the floor, and a thin red stream that ran upon the carpet stained the front of the crumpled white wedding gown.

Mr. and Mrs. Oden, at whose home the bridal couple were staying, were scarcely able to induce the grief-stricken wife to leave her husband's corpse. She clung to it, crying that she was her husband's murderer. Mrs. Phillips is now prostrated and in the hands of physicians.

Finds Revolver in Trunk.

Phillips and his wife went to the home of Frank Oden, where they spent the evening. They had been married but two months. Oden and Phillips had planned to go to the dance, and Oden opened his trunk, which sat in the center of the sitting room. After he had taken his slaying outfit from the trunk he left it open and walked away. Mrs. Phillips entered the room, and seeing a revolver lying there, picked it up, and pointing it at the floor, snapped the trigger three times. There was no discharge, and the woman thought the revolver was not loaded.

Purely Accidental.

Coroner Taylor held an inquest, and the jury at first disagreed, some of the members thinking the wife should be held for criminal charges, and State's Attorney Hanrahan was called upon to confer with them, but by the time he had arrived they managed to agree and decide that the shooting was purely accidental, and the woman was discharged.

Mrs. Phillips is about 18 years of age and her husband was 26.

Wild Dogs in India.

Wild dogs are becoming a nuisance and danger in the jungles of India. Even the tiger and panther shun away when the wild dog comes along.

SMALL BREAKS IN THE SITUATION

Lowden Is Now Ahead in the Republican Fight at Springfield Convention.

(Special by Scripps-McRae.)

Springfield, Ill., May 17.—The republican state convention resumed work at ten this morning. The entire night was spent in a fruitless endeavor to reach an agreement or combination to bring about a break. Some of the candidates considered their duty to withdraw and the proposition to go outside present list of candidates and take up a new man does not meet approval.

Two Breaks.

Kane and Will counties broke from Yates and went to Lowden on the thirtieth ballot. A big Lowden demonstration followed. The result is: Yates, 437; Lowden, 452; Deneen, 361; Hamlin, 111; Warner, 44; Sherman, 61; Pierce, 21.

More Changes.

The 31st ballot was: Yates, 431; Lowden, 473; Deneen, 382; Hamlin, 107; Sherman, 50; Warner, 32; Pierce, 22.

Next Ballot.

The 32d ballot was: Yates, 429; Lowden, 474; Deneen, 383; Hamlin, 109; Warner, 32; Sherman, 50; Pierce, 22. Still One More.

The 33d ballot resulted as follows: Yates, 428; Lowden, 462; Deneen, 233; Hamlin, 112; Warner, 32; Sherman, 50; Pierce, 22. Convention is preparing to adjourn.

FEDERAL DEPUTIES KILL CATTLE RUSTLER

Notorious Desperado, Who Preyed on Ranchmen in Resolved Country, Is slain in Running Fight.

Finds Revolver in Trunk.

Chamberlain, S. D., May 17.—The notorious desperado, Jack Sully, who for many years has been the terror of the Resolved country, is no more. In running fight with officers on the Resolved reservation he was killed, many bullets finding lodgment in his body, while the horse upon which he attempted to make his escape also shared the fate of its master.

A week or ten days ago Sully stole a bunch of nearly 200 cattle belonging to various ranching ranchers. He took a bunch of seventy-four down across the Nebraska line and sold them for $20 per head, receiving half cash and half paper. He cashed the paper. Soon after Brand Inspector Long got track of the cattle and, accompanied by their owners, Harry Hahn and Hugo Schilling, recovered them and returned them to the home ranch.

United States Commissioner Thielke of this city sent out United States Deputy Marshal Petrie, Brand Inspector Long, Sheriff Irish of Brule county, Deputy Sheriff Jesse Brown of Lyman county and Harry Hahn to bring in Sully dead or alive. They found Sully at his home near Blackbird's Island.

Sully was ordered to surrender, but with a defiant taunt he made a break for his horse, sprang upon his back and made a dash for liberty. He was shot in the side and fell dead. The body was recovered and turned over to the coroner. The coroner held an inquest and found that the death was caused by a bullet from a revolver.

THE JAPS LOST A SMALL VESSEL

Dispatch Boat Miyako Is Blown Up While Clearing Kerr Harbor Yesterday.

LOST IN TWENTY-TWO MINUTES

Two Sailors Are Killed and Twenty-Two Wounded After Having Taken Up Many Submarine Boats... Struck the Missing One.

Tokio, May 17.—The Japanese dispatch boat Miyako was destroyed Sunday evening in Kerr bay by striking a submerged mine. Eight casualties are reported.

The disaster came at the end of a day's fighting between the fleet and the Russian forts. During the bombardment the Japanese torpedo boats searched the bay for mines and torpedoes, working constantly under range of the Russian guns.

The Miyako was lost while assisting in the operations of clearing the Russian mines from Kerr bay, northeast of Tallywan bay, on which Port Dalny is situated. Admiral Kataoka, commander of the third squadron, returned there on Sunday with a detachment of his squadron, protecting two flotillas of torpedo boats which had been detailed to complete sweeping the harbor by the removal of mines.

Strikes Submerged Mine.

Five mines were discovered and exploded, and the work was being suspended for the day when the Miyako struck an undiscovered mine, which exploded with tremendous force under the stern, on the port side, and inflicted immense damage on the hull. The Miyako sank in twenty-two minutes. Two sailors were killed and twenty-two men were wounded. The rest of the crew was rescued.

Second Boat Lost in War.

When the Japanese torpedo boat No. 43 was destroyed May 12 in Kerr bay, while removing Russian mines, seven men were killed and seven were wounded. The No. 43 was the first warship lost by Japan during the war with Russia.

The Miyako was one of the warships which took part in the operations at Kerr bay, Tallywan bay, and Blackney, or Deep, bay the day No. 43 was destroyed.

The Miyako was a steel cruiser of 1,880 tons displacement and 6,130 indicated horse power, completed in 1901, and having an estimated speed of twenty knots. It was 314 feet long, had 36 foot beam, and drew 134 feet of water. Its armament consisted of two 4.7 inch quick firing guns and ten 1.8 inch guns and four torpedo tubes.

HENRY STANLEY IS LAID TO REST

CONVENTION MET IN BUFFALO CITY.

Presbyterians Are Gathering for the General Presbytery of the Church.

(Special by Scripps-McRae.)

London, May 17.—The funeral of the late Sir Henry M. Stanley, the African explorer, was held at Westminster abbey today in the presence of a large crowd of notables. King Edward and King Leopold of Belgium were both represented. Ambassador Choute and Consul General Evans were present. After the service the body was taken to the London necropolis.

TURNER CANNOT COME TO THE UNITED STATES

Federal Supreme Court Holds English Anarchist and His Followers Are a Menace to Government.

Washington, May 17.—While John Turner, the English anarchist, was in the United States on his recent visit he was here illegally. Such was the ruling of the United States Supreme court, given by Chief Justice Fuller.

As Turner sailed from America several days ago, the ruling will have no present effect on him, but it establishes the right of the immigration authorities in their attempt to deport the anarchist, which was blocked by habeas corpus proceedings. It will also be a precedent for action in similar cases.

Of the right of the government to bar such men as Turner the opinion, which was concurred in by the entire bench, says:

"We are not to be understood as depreciating the vital importance of freedom of speech and of the press, or suggesting futile litigation on the spirit of liberty, in itself unconquerable, but this case does not involve those considerations."

"The flaming brand which guards the realm where no human government is needed still bars the entrance and an long as human governments endure they cannot be denied the power of self-preservation, as that question is presented here."

The opinion upholds the decision of the circuit court for the Southern district of New York, which refused a writ to habeas corpus to Turner.

Turner appealed from this ruling, was released on bail, and after visiting Chicago and other cities returned to England.

ELGIN FRACTION LOWER

(Special to The Gazette.) Elgin, Ill., May 17.—Butter on today's board was officially quoted at 1934 cents, firm; New York, 20 cents; steady. The output of the Elgin district for the week was 577,500 pounds.

POLITICS EXCITE MUCH INTEREST

LA FOLLETTE BEATEN ON THE PRESENT BETURNS TODAY.

UP TO THE COMMITTEE NOW

Situation at Madison is Acute—Both Sides Claim Victory on Eve of Convention.

By Staff Correspondent

Madison, Wis., May 17.—General George E. Bryant, chairman of the republican state central committee, will call the state convention to order in the university gymnasium at noon tomorrow. If the La Follette plans carry he will hand the gavel over to Irvine L. Lenroot of Superior, whom the state central committee has determined shall preside over the temporary organization of the convention: If the administration faction controls the permanent organization it is altogether likely that Speaker Lenroot will be continued as chairman. He is a thorough parliamentarian and it is understood that for this reason he was chosen as temporary chairman, as there will be doubtless great need in this gathering for the services of a gavel-wielder who knows how to govern deliberative bodies.

Adolph H. Kayser, sergeant at arms, who has attended to as many of the arrangements in advance of the meeting as practicable, will have a seat at a table on the great platform. His assistant, appointed today, is "Captain" F. W. Gilman of Evansville. Other assistants for duty as ushers and door tenders are being constantly selected but have not been announced. Assisting the doortenders will be members of the Madison police force.

All Excitement

Madison, particularly in the vicinity of the capitol and leading hotels, has taken on an air of excitement and the metropolitan atmosphere is momentarily gaining in intensity. The claims of both are emphatic that they will be in control of the convention and this situation lends attraction to the show. The Forty Thousand club committee on arrangements has been able thus far to provide quarters for all the delegates who have arrived or who have sent requisitions. The headquarters of the committee have been removed from the Park hotel to the rotunda of the capitol. Secretary E. S. Jordan is in charge.

Came Monday

Members of the state central committee began to arrive in Madison Monday morning. Most of them, being members of the administration faction, called early at the executive offices in the capitol. The consultation room of the offices of the state board of control has been arranged by the state superintendent of public property as the session room of the state central committee and during the afternoon many of the committee men passed the time there discussing the situation and reading up on the points of law involved in the government of caucuses, district and state conventions. The members of the committee appear to be determined to know the law involved in the contests to be argued before them Tuesday and also the laws if there are any, governing the procedure of the state convention. The members of the state central committee are as follows:

The Committee

First congressional district—C. C. Glittens, Racine; Perry C. Wilder, Evansville.

Second district—John M. Nelson, Madison; James C. MacKenzie, Portage.

Third district—James A. Stone, Redesburg; Dwight T. Parker, Farmington.

Fourth district—George A. West, Milwaukee; David Harlowe, Milwaukee.

Fifth district—S. E. Gernon, Waukesha; August Buchholz, Milwaukee.

Sixth district—John R. Bennett, Port Washington; Frank M. Lawrence, Mayville.

Seventh district—Dr. W. T. Sarles, Sparta; W. A. Smith, Mondovi.

Eighth district—Eber L. Simpson, Oshkosh; Walter D. Corrigan, Phillips.

Nine district—Warren J. Davis, Marinette; John P. Dousman, De Pere.

Tenth district—M. E. Dillon, Ashland; M. B. Rosenthal, Wausau.

Eleventh district—Currie G. Bell, Bayfield; Samuel J. Bradford, Huron.

The only stalwart member of the committee to arrive early Monday morning was M. B. Rosenthal. He went to the headquarters of the opposition in the Vrooman block and remained in consultation there a large part of the day.

Among the members of the state central committee who were in the committee office in the capitol were Messrs. Bryant, Wilder, Nelson, Stone, Parker, Glittens, Gernon, Buchholz, Sarles, Smith, Simpson, Corrigan, Dousman and Bradford.

Messrs. MacKenzie, Bell, Dillon, Davis, Lawrence, Bennett, and Harlowe were late in arriving but were expected shortly, most of them on the evening trains. There was a report received during yesterday afternoon that the wife of Mr. West had died and that he would therefore be prevented from attending the state convention.

Temporary Organization

Assistant District Attorney Frank E. McGovern of Milwaukee was appointed by Chairman Bryant as the temporary secretary of the convention. If the administration prevails in the permanent organization it is likely that Mr. McGovern will be continued as secretary. He acted as secretary of the convention two years ago and is therefore familiar with the procedure.

Meet Tonight

The opposition will hold a mass meeting Tuesday night in the Fuller opera house. This will be for the purpose of attracting in as many as possible of the administration delegates. The leaders expect to "belligerently assimilate" a number of them. It will also be for the purpose of arousing enthusiasm in the opposition camp and for the purpose of holding any delegates who might otherwise be annexed by the administration.

The most important purposes of the mass meeting will be to outline the opposition plan in the convention. The opposition managers secured the use of the opera house some time ago for the mass meeting and this gave rise to the first rumor that the opposition had determined to bolt in the event that they were unable to seat enough of their contested and contesting delegates to control the permanent organization of the convention. It is freely rumored still that the possession of the opera house will be retained by the opposition managers and that after the state central committee and the temporary organization determine what the permanent organization is to be, it will then develop whether or not the faction will have further use for the opera house.

ANOTHER STORY THAT WON PRIZE

Youthful Author Tells a Pretty Story in Plain, Clear Language.

The Wolf Hunt

On a large farm in southern Wisconsin some years ago, lived a sturdy family. Girls, as well as boys, were taught to use a gun and all were "good shots," the oldest girl being quite an expert. A mile distant from the house was a large woods, and as two stock-binders were driving through these one day, on their way to the farm, they saw in the thicket, an immense gray wolf.

This was reported when they reached the house and immediately the two oldest girls loaded their rifles and set forth with hopes of securing the beast.

Farmers in that locality had suffered many losses that season from the depredations of wolves, and a snug boudoir had been offered in consequence.

Upon entering the woods the girls, like true hunters, ceased talking and crept stealthily along near where the wolf was last seen. Jessie, the older, went ahead. As she passed a pile of underbrush something furry caught her eye.

Upon looking more closely she saw clumsy paws and beady eyes of young animals. Maggie, who had come up and stood peering under the brush and leaves, exclaimed, "Coons, aren't they?"

"Too large for that," said Jessie. "I believe they are wolf cubs."

At that instant one of them ran from its nest. Jessie took aim and shot it. A wolf cub it was and five more were in the nest.

These three girls could not handle alone. But one had remained in their rifles and besides they wanted to capture them alive.

Jessie, loaded gun in hand, stood guard while Maggie ran to the house, a full mile, for their father. Had the old wolf returned before he came how Jessie would have fared is hard to say. Always brave, she stood at her post until her father and sister reached the spot with horse and wagon.

At that night a sudden howling awakened the household and the father hastily loaded his gun and going to a door that opened in the direction of the sound was confronted by the mother wolf who came directly toward him. He fired. The shot missed and she was gone.

When driving home the cows the next evening one of the boys was closely followed by her to within gun-shot of the house. When quite near the buildings she bounded over a fence and was lost to sight in a grainfield. For a week or more she was often seen but was too cunning to be shot.

The cubs were soon too large and fierce to be manageable. The father killed them and with his brave girls drove to the county seat. The authorities there allowed eleven dollars a head bounty making sixty-six dollars, which of course belonged to the delighted girls.

FOOTBALL MEN AT THE FIRST TRIAL

New Departure in the Football Situation at the State University

Captain Erving J. Bush of the University of Wisconsin football team in assisting Coach E. R. Cochems in holding the first successful spring football practice ever conducted in Madison. A squad of forty candidates is out daily kicking and catching the pigskin and acquiring a knowledge of the rudiments of the great American college game. Practically all of ten candidates partaking of spring practice are now "material" students who have never starred as gridiron heroes, and most of them being entirely "green" at the game. Little or no real football will be attempted during the short spring training season, but the captain and assistant coach are highly gratified with the success of the experiment.

The principal value of the spring work, says captain Bush, is to pound rudimentary football sense into the new candidates. The taste of the game in May and early June will take the rough edges off from some fine, heavy, though football-ignorant men, and will give the coaches a line on the fresh material.

The fact that the veterans do not play in the spring practice brings out and encourages many students who would not otherwise enter into the training in the fall, when all the sideline talk in the fellows who made the long runs and the scores in the great games of the preceding season.

Spring football practice is general at a number of eastern colleges and universities, but it has not yet become established in the west. The good results obtained at Madison this spring, however, are such as to assure that it will be maintained each spring hereafter.

The captain of the badger eleven this year is Erving J. Bush of Milwaukee, who has played a brilliant and steady game for two years as end on the Wisconsin team. He is a junior or third year student, a circumstance unique in Wisconsin football teams. E. J. Vanderhoorn was elected captain, but had to relinquish the position because of misfortunes in examinations and consequent pressure brought to bear by Prof. C. S. Schlichter, the faculty supervisor of athletes. This left the way open for Mr. Bush, the next best player and the most popular man on last fall's Wisconsin team.

AMONG THE WORLD'S WORKERS

News Notes From Various Sources of Great Interest to the Workingman.

It is said that the U. S. steel corporation pays dividends to 69,953 persons and wages to 28,000.

The Workingmen's Club of Hartford, Conn., makes it a feature to give receptions to capitalists as well as to labor leaders.

The catalogue of the American Federation of Labor's St. Louis exhibition was arranged by President Samuel Gompers, showing the progress and the growth of the federation from a few thousand in 1881 to nearly 2,000,000 in 1904.

Chicago, Ill., amalgamated wood workers' union now controls all the machine men of the trade and is prepared to make strong fights for 23 cents an hour minimum and union recognition.

Thorough organization is being effected by the agents of the American Federation of Labor among the hotel and restaurant employees of New England, particularly in the larger cities.

The House of Commons has passed the second reading, by 238 to 199 votes, the Trades Union Bill, legalizing peaceful picketing and amending the law of conspiracy in connection with such unions.

The Illinois steel company has hired vaudeville performers to entertain the non-union strike-breakers now corralled in the mills at South Chicago. The officers' club house has been turned into a theatre and three nights each week performances will be given, free of charge, to the strike-breakers.

Of the 2,500,000 emigrants of German nationality who left the fatherland during the 33 years since the formation of the Empire, 90.7 per cent came directly to the United States.

Already more than 40,000 workers in the textile industry at Philadelphia, have been thrown out of employment by the dullness of trade.

The employers and employees have been trying to devise means to improve the existing condition.

As a result of strikes it has been computed that there are idle men in the various trades all the time as follows: 22,000 cigar-makers, 51,000 brakemen and the workers, 21,000 mill workers, 17,000 shoe workers, 10,000 leather workers, 268,000 lumber workers, 17,000 printers and 103,000 in other lines.

Cashier Is Sentenced.

Waukesha, Ind., May 17.—Rufus B. Copple, defaulter cashier of the Big Four freight office in this city, who openly confessed he was short $4,000 in his accounts, was practically acquitted of embezzlement in the Waukesha circuit court when the jury found him guilty of petty larceny and gave a nine months' jail sentence.

Foolish Dead Seated in a Buggy.

Paducah, Ky., May 17.—William Levy, a prominent commission merchant, was found dead, seated in a buggy over his office, the upper story being a storeroom. It is supposed he took poison on account of unsuccessful speculation.

Dedicates French Pavilion.

St. Louis, Mo., May 17.—M. Jussac, French ambassador to the United States, accompanied by his wife and their servants attended the dedication exercises of the French national pavilion at the World's Fair.

Fad for Abalone.

In California there is a fad for eating abalone, a large mussel, which furnishes the beautiful shell used for ornamental purposes. The Chinese have eaten them for years, but until recently Americans scorned them as food. Now abalone chowder, soup, and even abalone steaks are considered great delicacies in San Francisco.

Korean Names.

The Koreans write their names as the Chinese do, with the surname first. They usually have three names: first, the surname; second, a generation name, borne by all members of a family in a generation, however numerous the cousins may be, and third, the individual name.

Japanese Yellow Paper.

A Tokyo newspaper sold many extras recently on the headline, "Mobilization of the Staff." Purchasers of the extras found that the staff referred to was that of the paper, which was to be increased in view of the great demand for news.

His Rule or Business.

A fair young thing, who buttonholed a Wall street magnate and asked him what was his rule of business, is puzzling over his answer. "Very simple. I pay for something that I can't get with money I haven't got, and then sell what I never had for more than it ever cost."

Circuit Court.—The Circuit Court for Rock county, the Hon. Judge Noggle, presiding, commenced its session in this city today. The calendar for the term is not large.

A Card.—I take this means of thanking those young men from the Institute of the Blind for their very agreeable and entertaining serenade on Saturday evening last. The piece contained the diminished chords which was especially fine. T. Martin Towne.

The annual meeting of the Washington Engine company No. 3, will be held in their hall this evening at 8 o'clock. It is desirable that all the members be present, as officers for the ensuing year will be elected. M. H. Curtis, Foreman.

A Nice Arrangement. The new time table of the Milwaukee & Prairie du Chien road is a great betterment to our citizens, as far as reaching Milwaukee is concerned. They can leave at 11 o'clock in the evening and take a sleeping car at Milton, enjoy a good night's rest and wake up in Milwaukee in time for business, and having spent the whole day in that city, return to Janesville the same night.

War Meeting Tonight.—It is gratifying to witness the zeal with which the work of raising one hundred day

Coming Attractions.

What Mr. Charles B. Hanford who comes to the Myers Grand Tonight in "Taming of the Shrew" has to say on the value of applause. "That's an enthusiastic audience tonight," remarked the scribe, who had wended his way to the mysteries of stageland and stood in the dressing room door of Mr. Charles B. Hanford. "You seem to have caught them right."

"Yes," remarked the genial actor, "they seem to be taking "Taming of the Shrew" rather friendly."

"Do you believe there is any great value in applause?" I asked.

"With all my heart," came the quick reply.

"Might I ask for your views on the subject?"

"Most assuredly you may, James, how much time have I?"

"Fifteen minutes, Governor," replied Mr. Hanford's valet.

"Excuse me old chap, won't you, but I must get this beastly wig on. It's a great mistake to suppose the excellence of a performance depends upon the manager, the author and the actors. On the contrary, the audience has quite as much to do with it as any of these other three factors. Generous but judicious applause is the breath that inspires manager, author and actor alike to do their utmost to deserve success. Acting is an art so simple and yet so complex, so apparently easy and yet so practically difficult, that the uninitiated can scarcely understand how the ladies and gentlemen before them upon the stage are, and yet are not, at the same moment, the persons whom they are supposed to represent. All the applause comes to the star like the spur to the spirited steed, like champagne to the poet. It exhilarates him. It enables him to outdo himself. Achievement grows upon appreciation, and the audience which applauds most always sees the best acting. The English fashion of receptions is a very graceful form of applause. It is the recognition which an actor receives as he makes his first appearance for the evening, a sort of "How do you do?" or "We are glad to see you!" This is no trouble to the audience. It commits them to no judgment upon the actor's performance; but the effect upon him is magical. He feels at ease in a moment, and he will play the better for the whole evening. During the performance, an actor who gets no applause is like an artist painting in the dark. He never knows what he has produced. The only way to let him know he is right is to applaud him. The value of applause, then, to an actor is incalculable; but its value to an audience is as great. The one reacts upon the other. To get the best acting, an audience must inspire it by hearty, genial and frequent applause. Try the two systems for yourself. Sit through a play without applauding anything; then take the piece and applaud everything that strikes you as being good in the dialogue, acting and scenery. Compare your own enjoyment during the two evenings, and you will be astonished to learn the value of applause."

HEART DISEASE AND DYSPEPSIA WITH ELMO CACTARINE
The Great Stomach, Heart and Nerve Cure
READ HIS LETTER

War Department, Washington, D. C.

Elmo Chemical Co., Des Moines, Iowa.

Gentlemen—I wish to inform you that I have derived much benefit and a complete cure from the use of Cactarine. Previous to the time I commenced using it I was troubled with palpitation of the heart, periodical pains in the left shoulder and side, and I could not lie on left side. My sleep was disturbed and a heavy feeling and distress after eating. I know I was in a bad and dangerous condition. I noticed the advertisement of Cactarine and sent for a box. I have now taken two boxes. The nervous pains and other symptoms have disappeared and I feel greatly improved. I cannot recommend your remedy too highly to all those suffering from heart trouble.

Respectfully,
E. EMMETT.

The merchant should not give the people the impression that on some days of the week there is very little business done at his store. Spiritless advertising—reduced space—will give such an impression.

Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday; possibly showers.

A CLEAR MAJORITY. The caucuses last Saturday in Bayfield, Pierce and St. Croix counties, gave conservative republicans 37 votes, and settled beyond reasonable question that the third termers lack at least 20 votes of enough to control the convention.

The counties representing the majority will present to the State Central Committee, credentials properly made out and signed by officials in authority and these will be the only credentials which the committee can recognize if either law or justice is considered.

While it is true that rump conventions have been held in several counties, it is also true that these conventions represent the minority as well as the authority to issue credentials to delegates, much has been said about contests and an effort will doubtless be made to seat at least 100 men in the convention who do not belong there, but the men who are engineering this sort of politics will do well to remember that the people of Wisconsin will not stand for this class of high handed proceedings.

The fight, which has developed so much bitterness, is over, and the governor and his forces, in spite of every effort has suffered defeat. People admire a good fighter, but when the battle is lost they have no patience with a man who will attempt to claim a victory which is fairly lost. Should the Governor succeed in so manipulating the delegation as to secure the third term nomination, he will not be the champion. He is a defeated man, and will be so regarded by the people throughout the state.

There is only one thing for him to do, under the circumstances, and that is to submit gracefully to the will of the people. If he has had his opportunity and if he has failed in making the most of it, no one is responsible but himself.

Many of the men who have supported him are republicans and many are not. The "are not" element is composed of democrats, socialists, populists, and a general conglomeration which has never rallied with the republican party, and never will. They have been captivated by La Folletteism, as they were by Bryanism, four years ago. They have given caucus support freely in all parts of the state, and the showing of strength which the Governor has made is largely due to this element.

Hand bills have been circulated among laboring men, advising them not to support the men who employed them. This is stirring up class hatred with a vengeance.

The republican party wants a republican governor, and the convention tomorrow will make a grave mistake if it fails to recognize the will of the majority.

LET US HAVE PEACE.

The good name of the state should be considered by the contending factions at Madison tomorrow. It is a time when conservative, cool headed judgment is in demand, and while the contest may be bitter, disgraceful proceeding should be avoided.

The record of the day's proceedings will go down in history and nothing should be done to mar the good name of the state. The most happy outcome that can be considered is a compromise candidate, on whom the factions can unite. This does not mean a La Follette candidate, for the seal of disapproval has already been stamped upon his administration.

It may not mean either Judge Baenisch or Mr. Cook, for while both have attempted to conduct a harmony campaign, the lines are so distinctively drawn that both are recognized as anti-administration men. There are plenty of men in the state who have not been offensively active, that would fill the office acceptably and to whom neither faction could object. This may be the only wise solution of the difficulty. The republican party is standing on the threshold of the parting of the ways, the most actions proposition, so far as the state is concerned, with which it was ever confronted.

The contest has been waged by intelligent determined men, on both sides. Both are claiming victory on narrow margins, and defeat, as well as victory, is to be considered.

The future of Wisconsin republicanism depends very largely upon the action of party representatives.

which are to act upon its destinies tomorrow. The eyes of the state will be focused on the Capital until the question is decided.

A bolt in the convention is the hope of the democratic party. It is too serious a proposition to be considered by thoughtful republicans of either faction, and it must not be permitted until all honorable methods to prevent it are exhausted. Discussion, while necessarily heated, should be tempered with judgment and common sense. The convention is but an incident in the progress of time, and while it is an important incident the state will live long after its proceedings are forgotten.

It is time for the republican party to get together on one common platform and work together, as of old, for the best interests of the state. There is no glory in a household squabble. Let us have peace.

POST CHECK CURRENCY.

To the Publisher: Dear Sir:—Orders promulgated by the leaders of the House of Representatives that no bills (except those carrying necessary appropriations, and a few others such as the Canal bill and the Cuban reciprocity measure) should be passed, prevented our securing action on the Post Check bill at the session just closed.

This, notwithstanding the measure was universally endorsed by many hundreds of the most influential newspapers, of every section and of every political faith. Organizations of business men, farmers, and advertisers also voted for it.

But one bill, other than the appropriation bill, was reported from the House Committee on Post offices at the session just closed, and that one was unimportant and unnecessary.

Without commenting upon the injustice to the people of such a "do nothing" policy we can only lay before you the facts and say that we do not easily forget at the rattle of government machinery, nor the quickly when it falls to run. Next session will find the Bureau at the old stand ready, with your valuable help, to push along for more convenient money.

Very truly yours,
POST CHECK CURRENCY BUREAU
The above letter explains itself. It will be read with interest by the general public. The bill in question should be passed, and it will be if the wishes of the people are recognized.

WHAT WILL THEY DO WITH IT.

With 500 delegates regularly elected in the interests of conservative republicanism, and with the third termers claiming a majority in the convention as the result of a policy that is generally recognized as high-handed, it is up to the State Central Committee to assume responsibility.

A large majority of this committee are in sympathy with the governor, and have been actively engaged in his interests, but they were elected to represent the party, and not the governor. It remains to be seen whether they will acquit themselves like men, or whether they will submit to a dictator.

Their constituency is state wide, and they can not successfully hide under the wing of a defeated candidate. They occupy a position of trust, and will be held accountable for the faithful discharge of duty.

It may be a little late in the day to talk about party harmony, but it is the only sensible solution of the present difficulty. Relations are so badly strained that the task will be difficult, but there is a hereafter that should not be overlooked.

Methodism has taken a long stride forward in removing the ban from amusements. It has been the means of keeping many young people out of the church, and has long been regarded as an unwise interference with individual conscience.

There will be plenty of time to cool off after the state convention.

If the right prevails conservative republicanism will win.

Senators Spooner and Quarles will head the republican state delegation to the national convention.

Mr. Bryan says that three-fourths of the democratic party is with him in his fight against Judge Parker.

PRESS COMMENT

Milwaukee News: The caucuses season will soon be over and then the state of Wisconsin will be able to resume business at the old stand.

Grant County Herald: It was in the spring that somebody wrote, "Sweet Bunch of Lillies?" We remember distinctly this was the spring the pleasant all froze.

Washington Post: Intense consternation was created by the appearance of a donkey in ballroom at Florence, Italy. These Newport styles spread slowly.

Schroeder Tribune: The unanimity with which his Illinois colleagues want to keep Uncle Joe Cannon in the speaker's chair shows there is one prophet with a corner on home honor.

Chicago Record-Herald: Down in Missouri Mr. Folk's enemies have decided to give up the fight and move back a little further from the jaws.

Cincinnati Commercial Tribune: It required 6,116 pages of the Congressional Record in the efforts of Congressmen to convince their constituents that salaries were being earned.

Racine Journal: There is no patent on any formula for reforming things in any political party or part

"After all, there is nothing like DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER I have used it with satisfaction for nearly forty years."

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

Atchison Globe: When we see a big screen in a room we no longer have an curiosity to see what is behind it, having peered so often and found only a wash stand.

Superior Telegram: It may be true that there is only one side to a political question, and that the inside, but it would sometimes puzzle the prophets to tell in advance which side is the inside.

Des Moines Register-Leader: At the women's republican state convention in Illinois one of the women was charged with packing the convention.

If a woman can pack a convention like she can a trunk, heaven help the men candidates.

Washington Times: The Japanese have no bands, no drum major, and no war music except hymns, and while this may make them a little less like a circus parade, it does not interfere with the real circus.

Denver Republican: Congressman Cowherd says the Democrats will win because of a "feeling of unrest throughout the country." But Americans always get uneasy about garden planting and lawn clipping time.

Green Bay Gazette: Evidently that roast dog feast for the ignorates at the St. Louis fair was not sufficiently thrilling to attract a crowd. Now, according to a news dispatch, the Moros in the Filipino village have demanded baked slave for the principal dish of a grand feast now in progress. That press agent is earning his salary.

Milwaukee Sentinel: A great campaign was made for harmony and it won at the caucuses. Gov. La Follette has never been in favor of harmony. He is a fighter by instinct and profession. If he ever gets his hands upon the white winged dove of peace he will not leave a feather upon the poor bird. His appetite for political war grows by what it feeds on. If the conservatives had 800 delegates he would give them a fight for their life. If the "harmony" campaign is carried into the convention the concessions are made for the sake of harmony, there will not be enough harmony left in this state to hold an inquest on.

Chicago Inter Ocean: By the folly of both great parties the country had been led into a financial quagmire. The task fell to Grover Cleveland to find a plank which might save it from sinking. Despised, betrayed, hampered in every way by own party he found the plank and averted the disaster. The nation's credit was saved because it found in its need a strong man whom nothing could terribly from doing his best—a man who would stand in the evil day, and having done all, would still stand. Grover Cleveland did stand. He fought to the end. And he won. And when his critics are but a shadow on the pages of history his fame will abide secure.

JANESVILLE CONTRACTING CO.

On the Bridge

NO GIN MILLS
BEYOND TRACKSCITY COUNCIL SO RESOLVED
LAST EVENING,

SESSION WAS LENGTHY ONE

And Numerous Matters of Interest
Came Up for Consideration—
Crusher Plant To Be Started.

At a lengthy session of the city council last evening considerable routine business was transacted but nothing of an unusual or startling nature developed. Harry S. Haigart was authorized by an order to review and audit the last annual report of the city treasurer and report without delay, the cost of the work not to exceed $75. The city engineer was authorized to employ an assistant at a salary not to exceed $150 a month. This action was taken to facilitate the work on the sewer plans which otherwise might not be ready for bids until July 1 or later. The report of the city treasurer was received and placed on the, likewise the report of the municipal court for April, and the bond of W. P. Mason to whom George Smith was granted permission to transfer a saloon license at 213 West Milwaukee street. Petition Was Denied

The petition of the Janesville Contracting company to be granted permission to erect a frame barn on Fourth avenue was denied on the adverse recommendation of the fire and water committee, Ald. Schwartz, chairman. The report of the city engineer on the extension of the sewer on Mineral Point avenue from Ravine to Pearl street was adopted. Season contracts for street sprinkling, involving the expenditure of $141 on the west side and $165 on the east side were entered into by the city. There is a $50 increase over last year on the east side, $50 being allowed for three sides of the courthouse park not hitherto taken care of and $10 for the three sides of the Jefferson school.

An Extra Policeman

Chief Hogan was authorized to employ an extra policeman. The matter of purchasing a horse for the police force was laid over until the next meeting. The payment of $18 in back salary to Officer Fred Beneke was authorized. Alderman Matheson reported that the committee on parks had hired Thomas Croft to care for these public grounds during the season at a salary of $10 a month and that forty young trees had been set out. The city clerk was directed by an order to advertise for bids for putting down a cement sidewalk on three sides of Watson's park in the second ward, bids to be filed on May 28. George & Clemons were awarded the contract of laying water pipes in the easterly portion of the courthouse park at a cost of $448.

Gazette, Official Paper

On motion of Alderman Jackman the chief of the fire department was authorized to accept the bid of $175 made by A. Milwaukee concern for putting two fire-escapes on city hall. Bids for the city printing for the coming year were submitted and Alderman Sheridan for the printing committee reported that of the Janesville Gazette to be the lower. The bid of the latter was accepted and the Gazette was made the "official" city paper for the coming year.

Saloon License Action

A resolution was introduced by Alderman Matheson and passed without a dissenting vote that it should be the policy of the council hereafter not to grant any licenses to saloons west or westerly of the railroad tracks. A resolution to request the banks of the city to state in writing what rate of interest they would pay on city monies together with the method of computing the said interest. An ordinance creating the office of assistant treasurer, incumbent to be appointed by the treasurer with the approval of the council, was given its first and second reading. Likewise an ordinance prohibiting the erection of wires and cables on certain portions of East and West Milwaukee streets, North and South Main streets, excepting loops to lamps, trolley and span wires, and providing for their future placement in underground conduits. The penalty for violation of this latter ordinance is fixed at from $25 to $100. An amendment to an existing ordinance pertaining to the operation of railroad gates and duties of the two railroad companies to maintain flagmen at certain crossings which will permit one flagman to attend to the work of two on Sundays was introduced and passed, the rules being suspended to permit such action.

MUSICAL GIFT BY THE SCHUMANN CLUBExcited Most Flattering Comment
From Invited Guests Present Last Evening.

Guests of the Schumann club enjoyed a delightful evening at the Sunday school room of the Congregational church last evening. The program was one of the most elaborate prepared this season and few who were honored with invitations failed to avail themselves of the opportunity afforded. Every number was greeted with enthusiastic applause and the most flattering comment on the work of the artists both in general and in particular was heard on every side. The audience was a fashionable one and many handsome gowns were in evidence.

The Filigree Ball

By ANNA KATHARINE GREEN,
Author of "The Mystery of Agatha Webb," "Lost Man's Lane," Etc.

Copyright, 1903, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

"Tenting to remember who it was. My brain is whirling, and I can recollect nothing but that this man and myself left the cemetery together on the night mentioned, just as the gate was being closed. As it closes at sundown, the hour can be fixed to a minute. It was somewhere near 7, I believe; near enough, I am sure, for it to have been impossible for me to be at the Moore house at the time my unhappy wife is supposed to have taken her life. There is no doubt about your believing this?" he demanded with sudden haughtiness, as, rising to his feet, he confronted us in all the pride of his exceptionally handsome person.

"We wish to believe it," assented the coroner, rising in his turn. "That our belief may become certainty will you let us know, the instant you recall it, the name of the man you talked with at the cemetery gate? His testimony, far more than any word of yours, will settle this question which otherwise may prove a vexed one."

Mr. Jeffrey's hand went up to his head. Was he acting a part or did he really forget just what it was for his own best welfare to remember? If he had forgotten, it argued that he was in a state of greater disturbance on that night than would naturally be occasioned by a mere lover's quarrel with his wife.

Did the same thought strike my companion? I cannot say; I can only give you his next words:

"You have said that your wife would not be likely to end her life in presence of any one but yourself. Yet you must see that some one was with her. How do you propose to reconcile your assertions with a fact so undeniable?"

"I cannot reconcile them. It wouldadden me to try. If I thought any one was with her at that moment!"

"Well?"

Mr. Jeffrey's eyes fell, and a startling change passed over him. But before either of us could make out just what this change betokened he recovered his aspect of fixed melancholy and quietly remarked:

"It is dreadful to think of her standing there alone, clutching a pistol at her young, passionate heart, but it is worse to picture her doing this under the gaze of unyielding eyes. I cannot and will not so picture her. You have been misled by appearances or what in police parlance is called a clew."

Evidently he did not mean to admit the possibility of the pistol having been fired by any other hand than her own. This the coroner noted. Bowing with the respect he showed every man before a jury had decided upon his guilt, he turned toward the door out of which I had already hurried.

"We hope to hear from you in the morning," he called back significantly as he stepped down the stairs.

Mr. Jeffrey did not answer; he was hastening his first struggle with the new and terrible prospect awaiting him at the approaching inquest.

CHAPTER XI.

THE days of my obscurity were over. Henceforth I was regarded as a decided factor in this case—it case which from this time on assumed another aspect both at headquarters and in the minds of people at large. The reporters, whom we had hitherto managed to hold in check, now overflowed both the coroner's office and police headquarters, and articles appeared in all the daily papers with just enough suggestion in them to fire the public mind and make me, for one, anticipate an immediate word from Mr. Jeffrey calculated to establish the alibi he had failed to make out on the day we talked with him. But no such word came. His memory still played him false, and no alternative was left but to pursue the official inquiry in the line suggested by the interview just recounted.

No proceeding in which I had ever been engaged interested me as did this inquest. In the first place, the spectators were of a very different character from the ordinary. As I worried myself along to the seat recorded to such witnesses as myself I brushed by men of the very highest station and a few of the lowest and bent my head

APPEARING OLD

Act as a Bar to Profitable Employment.

You cannot afford to grow old. In these days of strenuous competition it is necessary to maintain, as long as possible, one's youthful appearance.

It is important to do this without retarding a luxuriant growth of hair. The presence of Dandruff indicates the presence of a burrowing germ which lives and thrives on the roots of the hair until it causes total baldness.

Newbro's Herpicide is the only known destroyer of this pest, and it is as effective as it is delightful to use.

Herpicide makes an elegant hair dressing, as well as a Dandruff cure.

out sacrificing certain necessary points, and the coroner went relentlessly to work.

"How long have you been in this house?"

"Three weeks—ever since Mrs. Jeffrey's wedding day, sir."

"Were you there when she first came as a bride from the Moore house?"

"I was, sir."

"And saw her then for the first time?"

"Yes, sir."

"How did she look and act that first time?"

"I thought her the gayest bride I had ever seen, then I thought her the saddest, and then I did not know what to think. She was a merry one minute and so frightened the next, so full of talk when she came running up the steps and so silent with silence the minute she got into the parlor, that I set her down as queer one and all some one whispered in my ear that she was suffering from a dreadful shock—that ill luck had attended her marriage and much more about what had happened from time to time at the Moore house."

"And you believed what was told you?"

"Believed?"

"Believed it well enough to keep a watch on your young mistress to see if she were happy or not?"

"Oh, sir!"

"It was but natural," the coroner snarled, "Every one felt interested in this marriage. You watched her, of course. Now, what was the result? Did you consider her well and happy?"

The girl's voice sank, and she cast a glance at her master which he did not lift his head to meet.

"I did not think her happy. She laughed and sang and was always in and out of the rooms like a butterfly, but she did not wear a happy look except now and then when she was sent with Mr. Jeffrey alone. Then I have seen her dash in a way to make the heart ache. It was such a contrast, sir, to other times when she was by herself or—"

"Or what?"

"Or just with her sister, sir."

The defiance with which this was said added point to what otherwise might have been an unimportant admission.

"You refer to Miss Tuttle?" observed the coroner.

"Mrs. Jeffrey's sister? Yes, sir." The menace was gone from the voice now, but no one could forget that it had been there.

"Miss Tuttle lived in the house with her sister, did she not?"

"Yes, sir, till that sister died and was buried; then she went away."

The coroner did not pursue this topic, preferring to return to the former one.

"So you say that Mrs. Jeffrey showed unchessness ever since her wedding day. Can you give me any instance of this?—mention, I mean, any conversation overheard by you which would show whether they were all to be found on that lady's toilet table after the police came in with news of her death.

The answer was decisive. They were all there; her rings and all the other ornaments she was in the daily habit of wearing, with the exception of her watch. That was not there.

"Did you take up those rings?"

"No, sir."

"Did you see any one else take them up?"

"No, sir; not till the officer did so."

"Very well, Loretta. Sit down again till we hear what Durbin has to say about these rings."

"Just so. Now, when was this? How long before her death?"

"Oh, a week or so. It was very soon after the wedding day."

"And did matters seem to improve after that? Did she appear any better satisfied or more composed?"

"I think she endeavored to, but there was something on her mind, something which she tried to laugh off, something that annoyed Mr. Jeffrey and worried Miss Tuttle, something which caused a cloud in the house for all the dances and dinners and goings and comings. I am sorry to speak of it, but it was so."

"Something that showed an unsettled mind?"

"Almost. The glitter in her eye was not natural; neither was the way she looked at her sister and sometimes at her husband."

"Did she talk much about the catastrophe which attended her wedding? Did her mind seem to run on that?"

"Incessantly at first; but afterward not so much. I think Mr. Jeffrey frowned on that subject."

"Did he ever frown on her?"

"No, sir—not—not when they were alone or with no one but me. He seemed to love her then very much."

"What do you mean by that, Loretta? that he lost patience with her when other people were present—Miss Tuttle, for instance?"

"Yes, sir. He used to change very much when—when—when Miss Tuttle came into the room."

"Change toward his wife?"

"Yes, sir."

"How?"

"To be Continued."

COUNTY NEWS

Milton, May 17.—The college baseball team crossed bats for the first time in its history, Friday with the Platteville Normal school team, and the result was a poor exhibition of baseball on both sides, the score being fourteen to thirteen in favor of Platteville. The visitors assumed the lead from the first and kept it through the game. Although the college nearly caught them in the latter part, the batting of the college team was good, but their field work was not up to the standard. Illinois, who pitched the first five innings, was weak, giving two bases on balls, four dead balls, and allowing eight hits. Clarke finished the game in the box, allowing one base on balls and three hits. But the fault was not all to be found in the pitcher's box for the whole team is weak in its fielding, especially in the infield and the base running is poor. However, the Platteville boys are gentlemen and we will be glad to see them here again.
